Share with Wildlife Final Report
January 2022

The staff, Board of Directors, and volunteers at New Mexico Wildlife Center (NMWC) sincerely appreciate the opportunity to work with the NMDGF through the Share with Wildlife Program. The support we have received through this program has been, and continues to be, invaluable to our programs and in helping wildlife in our state.

Wildlife Rehabilitation Hospital

In the period from January 15, 2021 to January 6, 2022, New Mexico Wildlife Center admitted 870 animals to our wildlife rehabilitation hospital. Patients of note included an American Badger, a Common Snapping Turtle, a Sandhill Crane, and a Gila Monster. The attached document contains a complete list of species, date admitted, reason for admission, rescuer name, and disposition.

Patient numbers admitted in 2021 were down 11.6% from 2020, but up 26% from 2019. The pandemic in 2020 forced many people to isolate in their homes, backyards, and neighborhoods. As such, we believe that people were more likely to find injured animals around their homes and in their local communities, which is why we had such a large number of intakes in 2020. Since 2021 saw people returning to more “normal” activities, such as work and social gatherings, may be a reason for the decrease of admissions from 2020 to 2021.

Our release rate for patients in 2021 who survived the first 24 hours was 62%, a release rate higher than the national average. Close to 21% of patients admitted to our hospital were the victims of domestic pet interactions. We treat every admission that derives from human impact as an opportunity for education and prevention. As an example, we found that around 6% of patients are admitted due to collisions with windows. One of our summer interns created a brochure about how to prevent window collisions for her intern project. We frequently have people taking the brochures, excited to make easy changes to their homes to help wildlife.

Our hospital was staffed by two full-time, certified Wildlife Rehabilitators year-round, a seasonal certified Wildlife Rehabilitator from April 2021-September 2021, and a wildlife veterinarian. During the busy season of May-September, we host four interns who learn from our wildlife rehabilitators and help keep the hospital running. Thanks to a foundation grant, we were able to purchase a new mobile home for on-site intern housing. This new housing allows us to host interns year-round. Our first winter intern started in our wildlife hospital earlier this year and we have an Education Intern starting in February 2022.

In 2021, we were able to hire a staff veterinarian for the first time in years. Dr. Sarah Sirica started as a volunteer veterinarian for NMWC in 2017 before participating in an internship at the Wildlife Center of Virginia. After her internship ended in April 2021, she returned to New Mexico and started working part time for NMWC. We were fortunate enough to receive funding to hire her full-time shortly after. With this new addition to our wildlife hospital, we are able to provide a higher standard of medical care through surgeries, modern medical techniques, and restricted medications. Dr. Sirica also helped bring NMWC into the wildlife veterinarian medicine research field by contributing samples and information to other researchers. We are excited to continue broadening our participation in research and veterinary medicine advancements.

We have fielded a tremendous number of phone calls this year, helping people with wildlife-related issues and answering questions. Our staff is trained to screen potential rescuers and assist them with problem-solving, especially when it comes to young, “orphaned” wildlife. We make every attempt to have the youngsters reunited with their natural parents before inviting rescuers to bring the animals to our hospital. We added a new administrative assistant position, which has allowed us to focus more time and energy on answering questions from calls and people bringing us animals.

Wildlife & Science Education

In the period from January 15, 2021 to January 6, 2022, New Mexico Wildlife Center staff and volunteers presented 68 in-person wildlife education programs (including meet & greet events) to approximately 2,400 children and adults in New Mexico. The vast majority of these were for school-aged children, but we presented a few programs for adult and mixed groups as well.

While we were excited to begin offering in-person programs again in 2021, we struggled to receive interest in the programs from schools. We learned that teachers remained uncertain about the school year due to the pandemic and were thus not scheduling field trips or outside education programs. We decided to pivot our focus to non-school educational programs and created partnerships with the Santa Fe Public Library and the Children's Museum. We hope to continue our educational outreach through community-based organizations.

The Animal Ambassadors participating in our education programs are housed on-site at New Mexico Wildlife Center and provide an educational opportunity for visitors to the center. In 2021, approximately 2,370 people came through NMWC to complete the self-guided tour of our Ambassador Animal displays. We started up our Summer Animal Encounters program again this year, with 3-5 encounters being offered to visitors Mondays-Saturdays during the summer. This year, we extended these Animal Encounters to be year-round with 2-3 encounters per day offered during Fall, Winter, and Spring. We had 979 visitors attend these animal encounters throughout 2021. Eager to take advantage of the pandemic easing up, we held a free family event on May 29 called the Start of Summer Celebration. This event brought in 150 people from all over New Mexico, and we are excited to continue offering this free event to the public. We also hosted our annual two-day Open House in October, which had 280 attendees. Both of these events included animal encounters, educational programs, and COVID-safe activities.

It was a difficult year for staff and volunteers at NMWC with the loss of five Ambassador Animals. Most were suffering from age-related ailments and our staff made the decision to humanely euthanize them. These losses included Electra the Osprey, Marcel the Black-billed Magpie, Lupe the Harris's Hawk, Sadie the Bullsnake, and Sienna the Red-tailed Hawk. It wasn't all loss though, as we also acquired 5 new Animal Ambassadors for use in wildlife education programs and display at the Center. These additions included Pica the Black-billed Magpie, Rosa and Verde the Glossy Snakes, Dovah the Red-tailed Hawk, and Olivia the Bald Eagle.

We added the new position of Education Assistant to our Education Team in 2021. Zeek Craven came to the position with a myriad of animal experience from facilities all over the country. He has helped continue to improve the welfare and husbandry of our Ambassador Animals with his experience. With three staff members caring for Ambassador Animals, we were able to provide more individualized care to each animal and monitor their welfare more closely. At the end of 2021, we were sad to say good-bye to Curator Shawna Protze, who left NMWC for a new position. We are currently hiring for her replacement.

Pollinator Gardens

Our Education Coordinator, Chase Spearing, has spent the past year developing our new Pollinator Gardens Education Program. She has completed the curriculum for each day of the activity and a test garden has been created. With four days of intensive curriculum and garden building, Chase has incorporated the main 4th-5th grade Next Generation Science Standards relevant for each day, created multiple hands-on activities to reinforce these science standards, and has planned an animal encounter with one or more of our Ambassador Animals to connect the lesson to a tangible, living animal. Chase developed pre- and post- evaluations to determine the level of comprehension gained about the importance of pollinators on our ecosystems and how humans can impact these systems. Marketing materials were sent out in August to teachers in Santa Fe, Rio Arriba, and other surrounding counties. We received initial interest from several teachers from Santa Fe and have four classrooms lined up to participate in Pollinator Gardens. We have sent out another round of marketing emails to local schools to encourage more sign-ups for the 2022 Spring season. Our goal is to schedule at least two more classrooms.

To ensure success of the gardens at schools, we created a test garden on-site at New Mexico Wildlife Center in June 2021. These gardens are in galvanized metal troughs planted with around 15 different native plants. Some of the plants immediately died after planting, indicating that they are not hardy enough for the Pollinator Gardens curriculum. The plants that have survived are ones that we will likely be including in the Pollinator Gardens program. We also plan to visit Plants of the Southwest to get a better idea of what native plants are easily accessible for the program.

We are planning to purchase all materials for Pollinator Gardens by the end of February to have everything ready to implement starting in April 2022.
